Management Development for Instructional Leaders

How to Work Less, Play More, & Still Get the Job Done in a Normal School Week

Want to reduce your work load by 15-20 hours a week, while multiplying your time in classrooms by 500% or more?

In This Program You Will Learn How To...

- Work a 40-50 hour week, while increasing organizational productivity and efficiency
- Observe classroom instruction for at least 2 full days each week
- Be reenergized in the role of "Instructional Leader"
- Employ best practices for working with the school secretary
- Prepare your organization to produce significant increases in student achievement measures

What Participants Say About TBC's 2-Day Program...

Just a note to let you know how well our new office system is going! I am getting into classrooms a lot more and being more effective with my time. Things are getting done when they need to and I still have plenty of time to talk with teachers, counsel kids, and think about how to be a more effective instructional leader. I am so grateful that I attended this workshop so early in my career.
Cheryl Bodger, Principal, ABC Unified SD, Artesia, CA

I can say with total honesty that this training was more useful to me as a site principal than all the other conferences I have ever been to over the past 23 years. I only wish I had been able to have this training 23 years ago. With your training I have been able to get into the classrooms as I should. You have a great product. Robert Cumiford, Principal, Cutler-Orosi Unified SD, Orosi, CA

I would encourage everyone to attend this workshop. It has made a significant change in the manner in which our district is presently operating. It forces everyone to become more efficient and consistent with the everyday activities that occur in a district. Alan Sacks, Supt., Westside Union SD, Lancaster, CA
